

Scott Matthews

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

Scott Matthews is a Regulatory Specialist for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Louisville District, Indianapolis Regulatory Office. He is responsible for implementing Section 404 of the Clean Water Act and Section 10 of the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899, including pursuing enforcement and compliance actions, approving mitigation banks, reviewing requests for Department of the Army permits, and jurisdictional determinations. Scott has worked in the USACE Indianapolis Regulatory Office since 2008. Prior to USACE, Scott worked for as a consultant for Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC) as a Project Manager supporting the Navy in implementing their Environmental Programs. Scott holds a M.S Degree in Environmental Science and a B.S. in Environmental Sciences and Management, both from Indiana University.

